

$250,000 claim filed against county

A $250,000 claim has been filed against Monterey County by Mrs. Shirley Mae Jones of Seaside, for injuries received from first, second and third degree burns she alleges she incurred while an inmate in the County Jail in Salinas.

The claim, filed by her attorney, Attorney Joseph F. Landreth of Seaside, stated: "The date, place and other circumstances of the occurrence that gave rise to this claim are as follows: On March 3, 1975, claimant was an inmate in the Monterey County Jail serving weekends and wearing jail clothes. The claimant was in a tank and had a fight with an inmate, said inmate was out of the tank when the claimant asked the matron, whose name is unknown, for her medicine and the matron replied that she just had the medicine, and the claimant informed the matron that her prescription called for her medicine very four hours or as needed, and the matron left the tank and came back later with a book of matches which had "Chevron" printed on it and the matron then lit the whole pack of matches and shoved them through the bars towards claimant. Claimant slapped the matches out of the matron's hand, and the matches then fell and caught on the bottom of claimant's jail clothing and burst into flames.

"The matron then went back into the matron's office and got a glass of water which was contained in an orange plastic glass and came back and handed the glass to claimant who had torn the burning clothes off, and the matron stated, "put it out", and then the matron placed claimant in the drunk tank. Several hours later, claimant yelled to the extent as she was taken to Natividad Hospital, placed in intensive care and remained in the hospital until April 5, 1975," it read.

Mrs. Jones was treated for first, second, and third degree burns of the front of both legs, front of body, chest, breasts, and left arm and hand.

She, since leaving the hospital, states she has lost all feeling in her left hand and fingers.

The basis of the computation of the claim were severe burns resulting in first, second, and third degree burns resulting in extensive medical bills with future medical bills to be incurred for future plastic surgery, and other efforts to repair the damage plus the extreme traumatic and emotional distress resulting from the injuries.

Mrs. Jones stated the matron ignored her pleas for medical aid for over seven hours, and finally she was taken to the county hospital. She stated her body contained blisters which burst and caused her clothing to stick to the open wounds. Attorney Landreth stated her medical bills would exceed $50,000.

Rodney Brooks Join SARA

Rodney Brooks

Rodney Shelton Brooks is being welcomed to and briefed on the Seaside Alcoholism Recovery Association, Inc. by Stephen E. Ross, Executive Director of S.A.R.A., Inc. (See attached Resume).

Mr. Brooks joined the staff of S.A.R.A. as a counselor. Mr. Brooks title is Youth-Community Counselor-Coordinator. Mr. Brooks will be serving as resident counselor in addition to his other duties; the counseling work load will be shared however by the Executive Director and volunteer professionals that are consultants to S.A.R.A. One of the major responsibilities of Mr. Brooks will be that of coordinating activities to deal with problems with respect to youth and their families as they may relate to alcohol.

Under the direction of the Executive Director, Mr. Brooks is responsible for the design and development of comprehensive Youth Program that will help meet the unmet needs of young people who are alcoholics, or who are dangerously experimenting with alcoholic drugs. Working with families of alcoholics is a major part of his duty assignment.

Alcoholism counseling service is available at S.A.R.A. Cottage five days a week; Mondays through Fridays, from 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., by staff, professional and psychiatric counseling relative to alcoholism problems by appointment. This service is being provided through special volunteer arrangements with or between the S.A.R.A. staff and the professionals or agencies concerned. The Executive Director is working with the Department of Mental Health of Monterey County, hospitals on the Monterey Peninsula, Monterey Peninsula Unified School District Superintendent of Schools, private organizations, and professionals to provide this limited service at the Cottage. Counseling is also available on Saturdays by appointment, made in advance, but our major attention is devoted to youth and their families, because most youth are in school during the week.

(Mr. Brooks is on loan from the CETA program, through the City of Seaside.) Group meeting are held at S.A.R.A. Cottage three evenings a week. Mondays - Al-Anon meeting - 8:00 P.M. Tuesdays - Open A.A. meeting - 8:00 P.M. Fridays - Closed A.A. meeting - 8:00 P.M.

The Cottage is available for group meetings or individual counseling on every other evening of the week.

For more information about S.A.R.A. Cottage, or the program in general, call Phone 899-3300.

Garbage service mandatory

The Seaside City Council approved a garbage and trash collection agreement in their regular meeting which requires every property owner and tenant in Seaside to subscribe to this service, unless he can get an exemption at city hall.

The revised contract with the Seaside Disposal Service includes a $3 monthly collection fee for one-family dwellings and for each apartment unit; the current rates are $2.65 and $2.55. The new rates take effect July 1.

The mandatory subscription clause was aimed at the several hundred householders who don't use the citywide service and who represents a loss to the contractor, according to City Councilman Joe Cota, who negotiated the agreement.

"If that many don't take the service," he said, the balance will have to pay accordingly higher rates."

He stated that a procedure would be worked out so that those who feel they have legitimate reasons for staying out can present them at the city Manager's office.

Councilman Stephen E. Ross was opposed to the proposal if it meant that the small independent trash haulers can no longer operate in the city.

Local girl to assist navy recruiting

MONTEREY, CA---Miss Virginia I. Rapose, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rapose of 148 Ora Court, Marina, returns home after completing the Navy's Hospital Corpsman School at Great Lakes, Ill.

Miss Rapose graduated from Seaside High School in June, 1974. She reported to Active Duty November 29, 1974 and attended nine weeks Recruit Training at Orlando, Florida before her Hospital Corps School.

Miss Rapose will be assisting the local Navy Recruiters in explaining the benefits of enlisting in the Navy. She extends a personal invitation to all her friends and anyone else interested to visit with her at 431 Webster Street, Monterey, or give her a call at 372-1433.

Ross appointed to NARC

Steve Ross

STEVE ROSS, Councilman of Seaside has been appointed to Policy Committee of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REGIONAL COUNCILS.

Ross is the representative to AMBAG from the city of Seaside. He is one of the senior members of the Board of Directors of AMBAG, Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments. A strong advocate of "home rule", Ross has served on the Seaside City Council since April, 1964 - the longest continuous period of any member of the City Council in this history of Seaside.

Steve is Vice-President, Monterey Bay Division of the League of California Cities. He is believed to be the first Black to hold that high office in the history of the Monterey Bay Division.

LWV's final meeting

The League of Women Voters will hold its final general meeting before adjourning for the summer on May 22nd at 12 Noon at the Pacific Grove Community Center. The subject matter at this luncheon meeting will be Human Resources and it covers the topics of Revenue Sharing, CETA (Unemployment), Food Stamps, ERA, Education, and Housing.

The public is invited to attend.

Teacher limit proposed

Governor Edmund Brown Jr. said recently the University of California should consider limiting the number of teachers it trains.

The monthly meeting of the UC Regents also included attacks by Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally and regent Fred Dutton on university policies toward workers and minorities.

Brown, who has played the role of gadfly at the regents' sessions since taking office, said the regents should talk about limiting teacher education because of a declining public school enrollment.

He quoted a recent Carnegie Commission report as saying the number of jobs available in the next 10 years has no relation to the number of college degrees awarded.

U.C. President Charles Hitch said the university tells would be teachers about the job market and lets them decide whether to enroll. He also jabbed back at Brown over the governor's attempts to lower UC's medical school budget.

"It's a more serious problem that many more students are taking premedical courses than can get into medical school," Hitch said.

The outbursts by Dymally and Dutton came after lengthy presentations by the Chancellors of the San Diego and Irvine campuses about their academic plans.

"This is basically a publicity blurb," Dutton said, a long time dissident on the regents.

He said the report on UC Irvine glossed over several controversies, including minority enrollment. He suggested the school, and UC as a whole, put too much money into affluent suburbs and not enough into inner cities.

"I'm not going to let you get away with saying you're doing a great job with Chicanos," Dutton said, "Your figures are lousy."

UC Irvine Chancellor Daniel Aldrich said the school is trying to play more of a role in poorer areas of Orange County, but agreed there was much room for improvement.

Dymally stated that the university should set up satellite campuses in low income areas.

"I'm opposed to middle-class elite education," the Lt. Governor said.

"I am a spokesman on this board for rednecks and hardhats and minorities and until this institution gives me some indication they are not part of the ripoff I will continue to protest."

Dymally-Bradley Caucus-meet with Black Publishers

SACRAMENTO-----LT. Governor Mervyn M. Dymally and Los Angeles Mayor Thomas Bradley headed a group of Black elected officials who met today (May 14) in Sacramento with members of the Western Black Publishers Association to discuss some common problems.

The group of publishers and State officials met at a special luncheon, hosted by Billy Lee, Western Association President and Lt. Governor Dymally. The group discussed ways Capitol news coverage could be improved in Black newspapers and how State officials might assist the Black publishers in solving some of their media problems.

Also attending were State Senators Nate Holden and Bill Green, both Democrats of Los Angeles, and State assemblyman Leon Ralph (D) Los Angeles.

Both Lt. Governor Dymally and Mayor Bradley urged the publishers to be critical but fair in their journalistic approach and to insure that their readers are provided with both sides of the news.

Mayor Bradley reminded the publishers that "News" as published by some major dailies is not always completely objective and should sometimes be viewed critically. Bradley invited the publishers to call his office and the offices of the other elected officials for "the other side of the story."

The publishers asked the legislators, the Lt. Governor and the Mayor to assist them in obtaining their fair share of legal ads which the State runs chiefly in large dailies such as notices seeking bids on State contracts, sale of State property, etc. The total business from these ads now amounts to millions of dollars in revenue to local newspapers each year from the State.

Lt. Governor Dymally promised the publishers that he would insure that they received a steady flow of news from the Capitol. Dymally noted that "since Black newspapers often cannot afford enough reporters to cover the 'Capitol scene' full time," it is the responsibility of elected officials to provide them access to the news.

Lt. Governor Dymally reaffirmed his commitment to "press equality"; He was successful on his last day as a State Senator in having the Sacramento Observer admitted to the Capitol Press Corp.

DLI officer in hall of fame

A Montereyan assigned to the Defense Language Institute was inducted into the ROTC Hall of Fame at Lincoln University at Jefferson City, Missouri, recently at the College ROTC Silver Anniversary unit day.

LTC Harold V. Manson, assigned to the training directorate of the Defense Language Institute at the Presidio of Monterey, was inducted into the ROTC Hall of Fame along with six other outstanding ROTC graduates of the college. Two founders of the school, Corporal Logan Bennett and 1LT Richard B. Foster, the first president, were inducted as honorary members posthumously. They were both members of the 62nd Colored Infantry that founded the college in 1866.

Lt. Harold V. Manson

Former Army officers inducted who are now in civilian careers were Dr. James Frank, the president of the University who holds the distinction of being the first graduate to return as president; Mr. Earl Wilson, Eastern states regional director for IBM and the National Alumni president for Lincoln.

Active duty officers inducted with Manson included LTC Gurnie C. Gunter, a student at the Army War College; LTC Addison Williams, Jr., assigned to the Presidio of San Francisco and LTC William Gess, assigned to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma.

Manson was commissioned upon graduation from Lincoln in 1955. He has served on active duty continuously since then with various assignments at various installations and overseas tours in Germany, Korea and Vietnam. He was assigned to DLI upon his return from Vietnam in 1969. He plans to retire in August and make his home in Monterey.

4 seasons

fashions auditioning

The Four Season Fashion Productions will be auditioning young men and women to model fashion apparel. The auditions will take place at the Highland Elementary School in the recreation building, located on Sonoma Street in Seaside, from May 15, through May 22, at 7:30 p.m. If additional information is needed, please call Doug Gilmer at 649-8057.

Lay-off administrators not faculty

SACRAMENTO -- Urging that "we consider laying off some administrators instead," Lt. Governor Mervyn Dymally, member of the State College Board of Trustees, said he will oppose cutbacks in state college faculties, and added that "I'm not yet convinced there really is a declining enrollment problem."

Dymally said he plans to propose at the May 28-29 trustees meeting that several steps be considered before faculty are laid off:

Reviewing student recruitment programs to make certain all who would benefit from college are actually being enrolled.

Using existing teachers to expand state college offerings into new communities, to offer extended degree programs, and to help retrain the unemployed for alternative or new careers.

Shifting faculty members from overstaffed to understaffed departments where possible.

Using teaching staff to step up programs which the state colleges have not been able to perform fully, such as remedial education (for instance, basic reading and writing skills).

"Administrators seem to be protected by a neat, 'Catch-22' situation," said Dymally, a former teacher himself both on the school and college level.

"When enrollments are up, the state colleges want to hire more administrators to meet the demand. When enrollment is down, they want to hire more administrators to meet the crisis."

"They can't have it both ways," he added.

Concerning reports of declining enrollment, he commented: "I am not convinced there actually are fewer students wanting to go to college today. Perhaps it's a case of the college system not being aggressive enough in making students aware of the opportunities, and seeing that all eligible are encouraged to enroll."

Cutting off faculty, however, can generate a downward spiral that can cause an enrollment decline, and is little more than a speed-up since it forces remaining teachers to increase their work load, Dymally stressed. Sacramento State University announced this week it will reduce its teaching staff by approximately 20-setting off a student protest in the language department. Hayward State is already laying off tenured faculty, and Stanislaus is considering this possibility.

Dymally warned that the state college system must make sure it does not fall into the trap which the University of California encountered at the Riverside campus, where enrollment projections showed declined, where faculty were laid off, but where actual student numbers did not drop as projections had forecast.

He pointed out further that "when faculty members are cut, a downward spiral can begin in which an affected department or staff must then reduce the variety of classes it can offer. This results in students dropping out or shifting to other schools, because they cannot get the classes they need at the affected school."

Dymally also hit at a practice in the state college system known as "bootlegging" in which some state college administrations have used faculty salary money to hire administrators, often at top salary levels. "This amounts to little more than stealing faculty positions," he said.

Dymally has consistently urged the state to consider setting up a fourth segment of higher education to augment the junior colleges, state college and the state university system. This "open college" concept would have much greater flexibility in class offerings, cater more to career-oriented students, particularly re-entering students such as housewives, senior citizens, busy executives, the unemployed or the under-employed.

"I suspect the declining enrollment reports are the strongest proof yet that the colleges are becoming irrelevant to many, and that they need to re-examine their offerings and their approaches," he concluded.

"I want to make certain this enrollment crisis isn't like the oil crisis, one more manufactured than real," he added.

M.P.C. percussion ensemble to perform

The Monterey Peninsula College Percussion Ensemble will perform in concert in the MPC Music Hall on Sunday, May 25 at 8 p.m. with music varying in instrumentation from three to 12 players.

According to Greg Janusz, MPC's Percussion Ensemble director, the program will feature such pieces as "Brazilian Folk Song Suite" by Russel Hartenber which includes a set of five folk dances and songs from Brazil and uses marimba, xylophone, tympani and chimes.

Also included will be "Four Stores," by jazz drummer Louis Bellison, and will feature Marty Bartoli, Rick Pierce, Steve Turner and Mike Firstman on four drum sets and, "Brazilian Folk Song Suite" by Russel Hartenber which includes a set of five folk dances and songs from Brazil and uses marimba, xylophone, tympani and chimes.

Billy F. DeBerry appointed to planning commission

Mayor B. J. Dolan's appointment of Billy F. DeBerry to the City Planning Commission was approved by the City Council, at their regular meeting.

DeBerry, principal at King Junior High School, is replacing Alfeo Antang, and will finish out the term.

Antang, whose term expires in 1977, resigned recently because of the press of personal business.

DeBerry was nominated the outstanding young man of the year last year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and has been elected Lt. Governor of Kiwanis.

The Council also approved the appointment of Leo D. Trout, a medical technologist, who will succeed Berdine (Bud) Houser.

COUNCIL TO QUESTION FUNDING

The Seaside City Council will question the fund distribution recommendation made by the Revenue Sharing Review Committee for Social Services, since only one Seaside-based agency has been recommended for funding.

The matter was brought to the attention of the City Council by Tom Nash, a member of the Board of SARA (Seaside Alcoholism Recovery Agency).

The Seaside agency, Infant Care Center, had submitted a proposal for $53,180 and was recommended for $4,500. All other agencies in Seaside were denied any funding. The matter was placed on the agenda of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors for the May 20 meeting.

Brown presents keys to super market

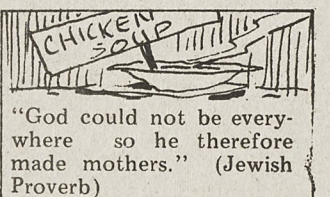

Seaside has its first black-owned supermarket with the acquiring of the old Mayfair Market, which later became Dick & Sons Market in the Olympia shopping center in Seaside.

The new owners are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown who had purchased the liquor department of the store and now they have acquired the whole thing.

On hand to witness the surprise turn-over of the keys to Mrs. Brown were Mayor B. J. Dolan, City Councilman and Mrs. Steve Ross, Mrs. Pearl Carey, and E. L. Burdix of Royal Barbershop.

Brown presented the store to his wife as a Mother's Day gift. Last year he presented her with a new Cadillac on Mother's Day.

The new name of the store is "WINNIE'S SUPERMARKET."

"God could not be everywhere so he therefore made mothers." (Jewish Proverb)

EDITORIAL

Black legislators

By Tom Nash

Black Legislators across the nation have become the subject of "investigative reporting" by the major daily newspapers. It has been revealed.

Investigation goes all the way back to their childhood with the intent of destroying their credibility and grossly affect their productivity.

The reading audience never questions the printed matter, but assumes that it is correct and the politician is placed in a position where he can't fight back, for he is considered a public servant. This is very unfair, for I daresay that there is no person since the birth of Christ who has a closet empty of skeletons, and matters that have been corrected should not become a whipping post to crucify the person years after the incident.

Julian Bond, Charles Evers, Mayor Hatcher, Senator Brooks, all have become victims of these unorthodox tactics, and in California, Mayor Tom Bradley, Senator Bill Greene, Assemblyman Willie Brown, and now Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally.

The Los Angeles Times have assigned an investigative reporter who, it is rumored, became a member of the KKK at an early age in his childhood, and participated in the killing of his first black at the age of thirteen. Can he be expected to give an unbiased report?

This reporter has been guilty of calling persons associated with Lt. Governor Dymally years ago, attempting to pressure them into revealing any irregularity in any venture that Dymally was involved.

Inferences were made that this citizen, whom the people of the State decreed by their vote that they believed he was the best suited to carry out the mandates of the people, was crooked.

Inferences that his camping fund report was not correct, which perturbed Dymally to such an extent that Dymally took all his paperwork to the Times and suggested that they audit these reports.

A constant harrasing of this public figure is presently in progress which has affected even the Governor, who has shielded away from his Lt. Governor, apparently afraid that this may affect his chances of re-election.

It is rumored that Governor Brown is afraid to leave the state because the running of the State would be in the hands of the Lt. Governor. How can a state function and get the best results from this kind of tomfoolery.

State Superintendent of Publication Wilson Riles has also been under attack, and it does not end there. Even on the local level the black public officials have been under attack.

I am reminded of the incident where a black woman was running for a School Board position and many advertising dollars were spent in a publication that inferred that she was not qualified even though she is one of the top administrators in the public school system.

We suggest you read carefully all printed matter and ask yourself what is the intent behind the attack.

Bill to help Viet Nam vets

Senator John V. Tunney (D. Calif.) said today he will introduce an amendment to the Indochina Refugee Assistance Act to provide $100 million for the rehabilitation and employment of Vietnam era veterans.

"I believe we have a responsibility to the refugees, who otherwise would be left to the vengeance of new governments," Tunney said. "But I also believe we have a responsibility to our own veterans, who are now experiencing unemployment significantly above the high overall national jobless rate."

Tunney said unemployment among Vietnam era veterans aged 20 to 34 is 9.9 percent. The overall national rate is 8.8 percent.

Tunney said the $100 million would be provided to state and local agencies through the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). He said it could provide as many as 12,000 public service jobs for veterans.

One-fourth of the total would be earmarked specifically for assisting disabled veterans.

"I believe the Refugee Assistance bill provides us with a unique opportunity not only to aid Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees, but also to keep faith with the millions of American men and women who served in the armed forces during the ten years of our involvement in Indochina," the Senator said. The Tunney amendment would add a new title to CETA, Title VII, to be known as the Vietnam Veterans' Employment Act.

"Ceta offers the kind of flexibility which is needed," he said. The CETA programs under Titles I, II and VI allow prime sponsors to provide a wide range of services under the umbrella of manpower programs and public service employment. Those titles should complement this one, and with Title VII enable localities to design whatever programs may be needed.

"It would construe rehabilitation training and placement services to be legitimate under this title and the existing titles of CETA, and I would hope that local officials and agencies would combine services to create a comprehensive manpower program for veterans and non-veterans alike.

"We cannot hope to write a finish to our involvement in Indochina until we take strong positive action to repay these we have too often forgotten to remember.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
From The Seaside
News-Sentinel
May 19, 1955

A potential measles epidemic in Seaside and Monterey County was narrowly averted this past week as county health department officials reported a decline at long last in the number of new cases—which has been rising steadily.

Measles were on a rampage last month when a burst of 575 new cases was reported in the county. This brought to 604 the total number to date for this year. That was 489 more than during the same period last year, or a rise of over 400 percent.

During the first week of this month an additional 104 cases broke out and talk of an epidemic became general. But by last week, the number of newly reported cases dropped sharply to 22.

A twin spectre, chickenpox, was on the rise as well this last month. There were 68 cases, to bring the total for the year to 209, nearly twice as many as in the first four months of 1954.

Fire Budget Increase Given Tentative Approval

A boost of some 10 per cent in the annual fire budget was given a tentative green light by Seaside fire commissioners last Tuesday night.

An across-the-board salary boost of $15 per month for all fire department personnel and equipment for the new fire truck accounts for most of the planned increase.

Accepting Fire Chief William Pachetti, Sr.'s budget recommendations virtually without change, for the time being, the commissioners voted preliminary approval for expenditures totaling $94,314.80 during the fiscal year 1955-56.

This represents an increase of $9,942 over last year and marks the third annual budgetary jump in as many years. If enacted as now drawn up, the new budget will be in excess of $20,000 higher than during fiscal 1953-54.

Clergy Scores Parade Timing

Exactly on what day Seaside's annual July 4 parade will take place appeared uncertain again today, despite a decision by the Special Events Committee earlier this week to hold the parade July 3, Sunday, instead of on the holiday itself, a Monday, as originally planned.

The prospect for another change, possibly back to the initial date, loomed increasingly as members of the Seaside clergy strongly protested holding a parade on Sunday at a time generally reserved for church services.

According to the Special Events Committee's action, the parade is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. Sunday July 3. The decision was prompted by a possible conflict with a similar celebration in Watsonville, slated for July 4.

Hectic Council Meeting Votes Jail, Tax Rise, and New City Attorney

In a hectic meeting marked by a series of tense exchanges between councilmen, the Seaside City Council this past week spent $6,543 for a police office and jail, passed a 1 per cent sales and use tax because "it needs the money," and hired a city engineer.

Introduction of the ordinance which would raise the present half-cent sales tax, permit the use of the monies collected under it for the general fund, and abolish the present Dec. 31 time limit, set off the fireworks.

In answer to an immediate series of audience questions, Mayor Jack Oldemeyer explained that the city had an estimated $200,000 income for the next fiscal year so far.

"With the proposed police budget alone, that's been requested at $78,000 and all the departments not even in yet, it's obvious we need the money," the mayor said.

"I'd only be for it, if it went into the capital fund," Councilman George Pollack said. "This way it could be spent for anything. Sure, I know that Monterey would like to see us put through a 1 per cent tax, because they've got one already. We're helping their merchants. But I'm not concerned about Monterey. I'm worried about Seaside first."

After a series of further exchanges, several times angry in tone, a vote was taken and the 1 per cent sales and use taxes passed 3-2, with Oldemeyer, Craige and Cunningham for it; Cota and Pollack voting against.

In a surprise move, Councilman Cota brought up the subject of the oft-proposed garbage franchise and insisted that the council had to do something about it. He also said pungently that the city attorney pro tem (James Wilson) had a letter from District Attorney Burr Scott on the situation that had not been read and suggested he do so.

Scott's letter indicated he thought the old contract between the county and the Community Garbage Service, partly owned by Councilman Pollack, was null and void. Craige said that there was a great deal of legal unclarity about the situation, but that he thought ethically the city should carry on the contract with the current garbage service until 1958.

A move was finally made, and carried by 4-0, with Councilman Pollack not voting, that a regulatory ordinance be drawn up setting up the conditions of a garbage service. Whether this will mean the letting of a new bid for the franchise or not the council shied away from saying.

Editorial

Small boat harbor

Some time back a considerable degree of discussion arose as to what was going to be done with Laguna Grande to make it the asset to Seaside that it could become. All sorts of suggestions were made, from building a vast amusement center, to making a park of the area. Since then, we've heard nothing.

We still think that the best thing that could be done with Laguna Grande would be to make a small boat harbor out of it. This would bring the maximum amount of pleasure to the greatest number of people and yet bring revenue to the area at the same time. But no matter what is done, we think the council should appoint a special group to get the project off the ground.

The growth of filipino club

By Tony Sison Sr.

The Filipino American Club has been continuously growing the past eighteen years. It started in 1957 when few dedicated and spirited men in our Filipino Community got together and formed the pillars of this organization. Among these were Sebastian Lorenzo, Simon Bucaloy, Oscar Hernandez, Angel Medina, Nestorio Rabano and Sid Valliador. They saw the handwriting on the wall that someday the Filipino population in the Monterey peninsula will be recognized as a group who will be instrumental in influencing proper officials in the legislation of laws for better government. This can only be done if the Filipino community can be solidified into one powerful force.

The mold is made. The Filipino American group is here to stay. It must be unified to support the leaders of a community in order to gain recognition through its political, economic, and social influence in our present society.

The Filipino Community has undergone significant changes and developments. From acorn the oak grew. Likewise, the few dedicated men who visioned this development grew to what we are now today. The metamorphosis was a painful one, faced with a wide spectrum of problems. Less conspicuous to an outsider are: jealousy, envy, unwillingness to cooperate, distrust, disrespect to his fellow men, vicious schemes for personal gains are but few traits of people in our midst.

Consequently, we are able to cast aside some of our differences and pursue the common cause of the Community through our undivided unity. However, there are still stones unturned.

Thomas Jefferson once said, "The way to prevent error is to give the people full information of their affairs." In our present system of government the elected officials who represent us in both state and federal law making bodies seek help from the people in their districts on how their constituents would like the leaders to vote on matters affecting the people. Likewise, in the Filipino Community the elected officials must keep the general membership informed. Policy making must not be left on the hands of the few. If the system of checks and balances is put into practice in this organization, let the masses be given the chance to carve their own destiny. Problems which concern the general membership should be presented during the monthly meetings. In many instances this has not been done.

Since the early days of the organization, the founding fathers visioned the advent of another day when the club house will become a reality, not merely figurative speeches during election campaigns. Today, we are standing on the threshold of events and with a club house. Club Presidents have come and gone; with them there were prosperity and lean years. Some completed their administrations and left their ledgers which showed that they spent as much money as they made leaving no profit. It was a relief when President Turqueza completed his term and handed down to his successor a financially sound organization in the amount of $10,514.74.

In spite of oppositions from even the few dedicated members, President Sabado made it clear with his forceful argument when he said, "Now is the time to buy a lot. If we still pass it up, our chance will be gone forever." How true it was! The big step we made turned the tide for our organization. His keen sense of judgment and perfect timing of such a move based on the trends of the real estate market are but a few of his traits as a true leader. At the conclusion of his administration, the organization had the lot "paid in full."

President Amande Julian came along and built us a club house. We are proud of our new home. One of the problems which confronts us today is a means of raising funds to meet our heavy financial burden. Remember that we are indebted $65,000.00 to the mortgage and another $30,000.00 to the Limited Partnership. We have only one source of income being generated at this time. Without it, we have no visible means of support. We must get together and shoulder to shoulder we will be able to share our burden with full satisfaction that we have done our best for our people and the community we live in. Our Filipino Community has enough resources and talents if we try to help and give our very best.

Over $1 million in unclaimed funds

SACRAMENTO -- State Controller Kenneth Cory today reported that unclaimed funds and abandoned property with a total value of $1,429,389 were received by his office during the months of February, March and April, and are being held in safekeeping for the rightful owners.

The total included $522,079 in unclaimed funds from 371 estates, and 1,104 items of abandoned property valued at $1,348,062, Cory said. Estates permanently escheat to the State if unclaimed after five years. Abandoned property is subject to claim indefinitely. As of April 30, the Controller's Unclaimed Property Office was custodian for an accumulation of $9,333,260 from 10,722 estates, and 345,676 items of abandoned property aggregating $28,339,584.

Monterey County accounted for one of the estates received during the three-month period. Estates received from Monterey County and valued at more than $1,000 are included in the following:

Alexis A. Bakin $63,594.

What can you do to have a happy marriage? Heed these words from the Bible: "Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand."

State aging director will be luncheon speaker

Stan J. Nielsen, Director of the California State Office on Aging, will be the featured speaker at the annual membership luncheon of the Alliance on Aging, Inc. at the Pacific Grove Community Center on Wednesday, May 28.

At the luncheon, the Alliance will also honor professional persons from throughout Monterey County whose services in the causes of elderly residents have been especially outstanding, according to Dr. Morris Showel, president of the Board of Directors. The luncheon meeting will begin at noon and end about 1:30 p.m.

Entertainment will be offered and Alliance members and guests will eat food identical to that being served that day by Monterey "Meals on Wheels," a service that provides hot meals daily for elderly citizens.

Dr. Showel said members will be given a report on activities of the Alliance, which include spearheading the Tri-County Nutrition Project in Monterey County, operating the Friendly Visitor Service and coordinating efforts of a number of agencies on behalf of older citizens. The Alliance is a non-profit corporation established in 1970 which provides service to older adults.

A short business meeting will be held, during which nominations will be heard for the organization's Board of Directors. Balloting will be conducted later by mail.

Nielsen is a 16 year veteran of state services dealing with the elderly. During his career his posts have included that of assistant to the Secretary of the Health and Welfare Agency and that of Health Administrative Services Specialist in the former Department of Mental Hygiene.

The Pacific Grove Community Center is located at 515 Junipero, Pacific Grove. There will be a $1.50 charge for the luncheon and reservations are required. More information may be obtained by calling 649-1222 on the Monterey Peninsula or by asking the operator for Enterprise 19611 in other parts.

Senate committee passes malpractice bill

(SACRAMENTO) A bill to reform the entire medical malpractice field passed its first legislative hurdle late Wednesday (May 14).

Senate Bill 397, by Senator Dennis E. Carpenter, was approved 5-1 by the Senate Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee.

"The current crisis is actually a crisis in patient's health care," said Carpenter. "The cost of medical malpractice insurance is passed directly to the consumer."

Senate Bill 397 would take medical malpractice cases out of the courts and place them before a patients' compensation board.

Guidelines for awards in malpractice cases are established, as are limits on attorney's fees.

The bill also provides for revocation or suspension of the license of any health care provider found guilty of willful or wanton misconduct.

Medical malpractice claims would be heard before one of eight patients' compensation boards. Each three-member board would consist of one lawyer, one doctor and one layperson.

If the plaintiff shows that damages resulted from a legal wrong, a negligent or unlawful act by the health care provider, the board could make a compensation award subject to maximum limits:

For the death of a minor without dependents, up to $25,000.

For the death of an adult without dependents, up to $50,000.

For the death of a minor or adult with dependents, up to $500,000.

For injury not resulting in death, up to maximum of $500,000.

Compensation awards for permanent disability could be designated by the board to be made in periodic payments rather than in a lump sum.

If the board finds willful or wanton misconduct on the part of the doctor, hospital, dentist or other health care provider, additional punitive damages may be awarded. These damages are charged against the guilty party, not the insurance company.

Additionally, such a finding would constitute grounds for the revocation or suspension of the health care provider's license under Carpenter's bill. The appropriate state licensing agency would be required to initiate suspension or revocation proceedings.

Senator Carpenter's bill also fixes attorney fees in malpractice cases on a sliding scale ranging from 40 per cent (of the first $1,000) down to 10 per cent (of any amount more than $100,000).

Carpenter noted the complexity of the medical malpractice insurance problem. "Some blame rests with the doctors, the lawyers, the courts, the insurance companies and even a few patients."

"The real victim is the consumer, who ultimately pays the added costs of malpractice insurance premiums," concluded Carpenter.

When it comes to banking, Richard Hodge is like a lot of Californians. He wants a bank that can meet all his needs. And he wants a bank that's convenient. At Bank of America, he has both.

That's because Bank of America offers over a hundred different banking services. From checking and savings accounts to special trust accounts, safe deposit boxes, BankAmericard®, drive-up banking, Bank-America Travelers Cheques, and more.

Of course, at Bank of America you also get the safety of having your accounts insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. And you get convenience.

In fact, with more than a thousand offices in California to serve you, Bank of America may just be the most convenient bank you'll ever find.

Just ask Richard Hodge. He thinks we're unbeatable.

Depend on us. More Californians do.

Talcott recommends

Congressman Burt Talcott
today recommended an expenditure of $15,813,000. for salaries and expenses for the expansion of a national reading program for the blind and physically handicapped.

Congressman Talcott says
"Anyone who cannot read normal print for any physical reason will benefit from this program."

The extra funds will enable 150 cooperative libraries across the nation to supply a wider selection of Braille books - records and cassettes, which will benefit 500,000
blind and physically handicapped people.

Burt Talcott has approved the recommended appropriations of $3,728,000 for the transitional period.

In other action Talcott's appropriations Committee recommended $2,700,000 to alter and improve various government buildings in Washington for easier access by the physically handicapped.

The money will be used to eliminate architectural barriers in the Capitol, Senate and House Office Buildings, Capitol Grounds, Library of Congress Buildings, & Botanic Garden.

Talcott says "these modifications have been needed for some time and especially now when we are expecting a great many visitors to the Capitol.
Everyone should have the opportunity to see their government at work."

SJSU students pave way to worldwide jobs with "coffee and donut" marketing skills

Starting with one coffee pot, a dozen donuts and a pinch of marketing know-how, some business club students at San Jose State University have made enough money to send themselves to seven foreign nations this summer on jobs in international business.

"At the start of this year we had four club members and one coffee pot. Now we have four coffee pots and 51 members," quipped Bruce Warneck, senior marketing major and president of the SJSU chapter of the International Association of Students in Business and Economics. "Lately, we've been making $200 a week just selling coffee and donuts to night students."

The club, which also sells 10 dozen donuts a night, does periodic market surveys to make sure they're offering just the right kind of donuts "to maximize our profits," says junior marketing major Bill Smyth, vice president of the SJSU chapter which calls itself "AIESEC" after the French name for the international club. Welfare payments to increase

Welfare program cost of living adjustments scheduled for July 1 will mean a payment increase averaging $34 a month for needy families and $15 for the state's aged and disabled recipients, the California Health and Welfare Agency announced today. Monthly checks to blind recipients will be $18 larger.

"I know the additional money will be welcomed by every needy Californian trying to cope with inflation," said Health and Welfare Secretary Mario G. Obledo.

Obledo said a cost of living increase will also occur July 1 in the Food Stamp program which is currently aiding 1.5 million Californians, most of whom are also receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children benefits.

"The increase in Food Stamp benefits will come entirely from U.S. Department of Agriculture funds, he said. "California's share of the other increases is already provided for in the budget and will not result in new taxes."

Acting Director of Benefit Payments Jerry Prod said the increase will go to about 1.4 million men, women, and children in the AFDC program and another 680,000 persons in the federally-administered Supplemental Security Income-State Supplementary Program for the aged, blind, and disabled.

In the AFDC category, the amount of the increase varies with the number of persons in the family. For example, a family of four will receive a $38 a month payment increase, the result of an increase in the four-person maximum payment level from $311 to $349.

In the aged, blind, and disabled program, the aged and disabled individual maximum payment level will go from $235 to $250 a month. A blind individual's monthly payment level will go from $265 to $283.

Under both programs, outside income a person may have is deducted from the payment level according to various formulas used to determine the amount of the actual welfare payment.

M.P.C. percussion ensemble to perform

Following the Brazilian suite will be "A La Samba" and "Piece for Percussion," by Mitchell Peters, and "What?" by Dale Rauschenberg.

The final piece in the evenings program will be "Encore in Jazz," by Vic Firth, a piece for a percussion ensemble written in the jazz style.

Admission to the concert will be $1.50 and tickets will be available at the door.

founded in France in 1948, is a unique coalition of business students at 47 U.S. universities and company leaders from six continents around the globe.

Left to its own devices, the SJSU chapter of AIESEC has raised enough money to send members on valuable internships in Yugoslavia, Peru, Finland, Colombia, the Netherlands, Israel and Switzerland. Each student gets $1,000 for travel expenses and earns about $500 a month on the job, says Warneck.

"Besides money earned from coffee and donut sales, we also solicit donations from Bay Area companies interested in what we're doing," said Warneck. "Firms such as Hewlett Packard, IBM, J.C. Penney, Exxon, Motorola, Wells Fargo and Spectra Physics have been very helpful to us.

"This summer I'm going to Eretz, Israel, for six weeks where I'll work for an economic-social institute called Barzli Yoram.

"Inex Colombetti, a 22-year-old marketing senior, will be off to Bogota, Colombia to work for the Coca Cola Company.

"Senior Frank Laise, also 22, is going to Finland to work for Cy A. Ahlstrom Ab, a machinery-making firm near Helsinki.

"Bill Smyth, a 20-year-old junior marketing student, landed an internship in communist Yugoslavia. He's going to work for an international wholesale firm there.

"Bryan Sweeley, 22, an accounting senior, will work this summer in the Netherlands for a paper company in Maastricht, Holland. And Lynn Pennington, another business student, has a job lined up in Amsterdam at the Turmac Tobacco Company.

"Grad student Bob Roth, 22, plans to work for the Bank Switzerland in the city of Wil, about 35 miles from Zurich."

Later this fall, student Bonnie Hartmeyer will go to Lima, Peru as a management trainee for Associated Electrical Enterprises. And senior accounting major Curtis Raymond plans to work soon for a firm in the Philippines on his internship.

"It's a great experience for students," says Warneck.

"These internships—though temporary—give us a tremendous introduction to the world of business. Students get to see first-hand that big businessmen aren't always guys in gray suits with skinny black ties. Usually they're fantastic people who treat students very well."

Warneck said anyone interested in joining AIESEC can call the club at 277-3402.
